Spanish with golf

In this program, students live with a host family and play four hours of golf each week. It's ideal for golf enthusiasts who want to improve their game and experience Spanish life by living with a family. It's suitable for both beginners and experienced golfers.

There is the option to choose with or without Spanish classes. Both options offer excellent language learning. In the first option, classes are taught by a qualified and trained family member. The number of classes can be either 10 or 15 hours per week, which the student will have selected beforehand.

During their stay, they will be accommodated in single rooms. They will take one full-day excursion or two half-day excursions. Above all, they will have fun and learn. They will stay with a host family where there is a young person of the same or similar age as the visiting student.

During their stay, we maintain contact with the student to learn about their integration and development in their training.
